

REMARKS

The above amendments are made so that the present application properly claims benefit to the parent application. Applicants submit that the specification submitted herewith is substantially the same specification as filed in the parent application. Some changes have been made to 1) reflect amendments accepted during the prosecution of the parent case, in particular, the addition of sequence identifiers to comport with the requirements 37 C.F.R. § 1.821-1.825 and the notice of deposit of biological material; 2) amend the format of the specification to comport with current U.S. Patent and Trademark Office requirements with regard to the application papers, including margins, spacing, and paragraph numbering as provided under 37 C.F.R. § 1.52, and 3) correct minor typographical errors. Applicants submit that the specification submitted herewith does not contain any subject matter that would have been new matter in the parent application. Other than those amendments and the new claims, the present continuation application is the same as the parent case..

Respectfully submitted,
